Complete character / exemplar proof

426 encoded characters + 62 additional glyphs / all four styles

Every character encoded in version 2.011 has its own card. A final section includes all unencoded glyphs: stylistic alternates, small figures, mark helpers and the missing-character box.

Source crops come from the original letter and envelope. Direct exemplar means the same character construction is visible. Case/mark uncertain flags ambiguous evidence rather than treating the transcription as certain.

Related base only shows a relevant unaccented letter, not evidence that the writer used that accented character. Related default form and related full-size digit likewise indicate design relationships, not exact exemplars.

No direct exemplar means none was identified in the supplied handwriting. Printed return-address labels, stamps, postmarks and postal barcodes are excluded. Spaces and format controls have no visible ink; their advance widths are shown.

Accents are drawn in isolation on their own cards. This is an outline inventory rather than a shaped-text specimen. Combining marks normally attach to another character when typed.

Only individual character crops are included. Full source documents, source coordinates, names and addresses are omitted. The reproducible generator reads the sanitized assets in source/exemplars/.

48 source assignments; ambiguous assignments are explicitly marked.
